Greetings!

The Robert C. Byrd Institute for Advanced Manufacturing Technology is excited to announce the launch of a new website. The website, located at www.rcbi.org/whatweare, provides a comprehensive overview of the Institute's mission, vision, and values. It also highlights the work we have been doing to promote manufacturing and technology education in West Virginia.

The website includes information on our programs, including the Manufacturing 101 workshop series, the Manufacturing Technology Center, the Advanced Flexible Manufacturing Program, and the WVSBDC. It also features a calendar of events, a list of our faculty and staff, and a gallery of photos and videos featuring our work.

You can also check out our social media channels, including Facebook and Twitter, where we share updates on our latest projects and events. Stay 'social' with RCBI and stay tuned for more news about the Institute and its work to accelerate the manufacturing movement in the Mountain State.

Sincerely,

The RCBI Team
